Principal's Message

Dear Parents and students,

SEP Conferences are coming this next week. We encourage all parents to attend to review goals, set new goals, and review student progress. During this time of school year, we find students have a tendency to be sluggish with school and homework. In fact, experts say the "mid-year slump" is a time when some kids lose enthusiasm for learning. So February is a good time to review your child's progress and promote success. Below are some suggestions to help students:

1. Look over your child's last SEP form and work. Ask the teacher for suggestions on helping your child do their best. Communicate with the teacher throughout the year.
2. Be creative. Read books and do activities that relate to what your child is studying. Visit fun, safe, educational websites that will reinforce learning.
3. Recommit to organization. Make sure your child's schoolwork and supplies are in order. Help clean out their backpack and restock their study space.
4. Set exciting goals. Help your child set a specific goal: "I want to finish a chapter book." Plan how they'll do it: "I'm going to read one chapter a day." Then applaud them for their efforts! Be sure to cheer for all of their hard work, not just the end result.

We look forward to seeing you at SEP Conferences!
